RE: Channel One/Online magazine

Finally, here at the end of the school year, Channel One is working again. I apologize for not having it available until now, but Channel One had issues that needed to be resolved as they installed a new satellite dish and updated our equipment. The satellite that once stood on the lawn near the Junior High entrance was vandalized sometime last summer, so it had to be replaced with a new one, which is now located on the roof of our building. Anyway, we are going again, and hopefully it will be available to you when you return to your classrooms in August.

“Cable in the Classroom” magazine, a publication of Charter Communications (Channel One) is now paperless at: www.ciconline.org

The online magazine is of special interest to educators, filled with a wide range of articles for the classroom teacher. Included each month is the schedule of Channel One film productions that are available for duplication, sample lesson plans, innovative technology projects and ideas, supplemental materials—all geared for language arts, history, arts, personal development, social studies, science/health, languages, and preschool.

It will be well worth your time to include this online website as you plan for the next school year.
